$100,000 FIRE AT FORDSVILLE EARLY MONDAY MORNING

Practically Every Business House In the Little City Destroyed.

Supposed to Have Started In An Oil Room.

The business portion of Fordsville is today lying in ruins. Fire, about 3:00 o'clock Monday morning, supposedly starting in the oil room of the Wilson Company, swept the entire business portion of that city, leaving only a few business houses standing, entailing a loss of something like a $100,000, with about 40 per cent. insurance. One residence, that of David Howard, was also destroyed.

The fire was first discovered by Dee DeHaven, who is employed as night watchman by the L. H. & St. L. Railroad Co., who gave the alarm and in a short time the entire town turned out and did heroic work in way of helping carry out the stock of goods in the immediate buildings.

The fire which originated in the oil room of Wilson's store, soon destroyed this three-story building and crossed the street, next setting on fire the two-story building of A. Shapero, and in a short time all the buildings fronting on Main street were a burning mass.

Wilson's store was owned by Ollie Wilson & Co., and carried a large stock of general merchandise, totally destroyed. On same side of street was Miller Bros. of Owensboro, which was also burned, together with Westerfield's 5 and 10c store. A Shapero occupied a two-story frame building and carried a general stock, which was also destroyed.

The Bank of Fordville was burned. Dr. DeWeese's drug store was next burned entailing a heavy loss.

The dental office occupied by Dr. S. M. McKenney, was totally destroyed. Next destroyed was the up-to-date grocery of S. K. Allen. Thence to the meat market of Clarence Shown.

Roby Bro.'s bakery was burned. Also the office and drug store of Dr. Denton.

The Smith Hotel was reduced to ashes, as was the two-story building occupied by Albert Beatty.

David Howard's two-story residence, also the restaurant and two-story dwelling of J. T. Whittinghill. The barber shop of Cody Stewart was destroyed, but he saved a few tools. And last, but not least, was the old land-mark—Saddlery shop and Masonic Hall owned by J. T. Smith, which has stood for so many years.

Below is a rough estimate of loss and insured property:

800 RUSSIAN WOMEN JOIN "FIGHTING REGIMENT"

Petrograd, June 10 (via London June 11).—The propaganda in favor of a "women's fighting regiment" has made considerable progress. Eight hundred volunteers have already enlisted, among whom, it is reported, is the wife of the War Minister, A. P. Kerensky.

Madame Schabanoff, president of the Pan-Russian Women's League, declares herself in favor of the plan. She says it is the only means to fire the courage and devotion of the men. Ensign Mite, Butchkaeff, the originator of the plan, who has been decorated with both the medal and cross of St. George for courage in the field, has quarreled with those who aided her in the organization of the regiment and has left Petrograd for the front because the others rejected her demand for spartan discipline, with punishment of execution for the smallest breach of discipline, if thrice repeated.

The corps will be formed without Ensign Butchkaeff on a basis of voluntary discipline.

DEATH OF MRS. LEE.

The funeral services will be conducted from the residence Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock with services by Rev. S. M. Martin, pastor of the Third Baptist church. The interment will be in Elmwood cemetery.—[Owensboro Inquirer, June 5.]

of-town folks here attending the funeral.

J. F. PHILLIPS FOR REPRESENTATIVE

In this issue of The Herald will be found the announcement of Mr. J. L. Phillips, who seeks the Democratic nomination for Representative from Ohio county.

Mr. Phillips has been a citizen of Ohio county several years, is an upright, honest gentleman, fully capable of filling the office he seeks, and if honored with the nomination of his party, will make a strong candidate in the final. Mr. Phillips will represent no clique or special interest, and if elected in the final will go to Frankfort as a representative of the people of Ohio county.

THE $100 BOND.

It has been carefully estimated that the proceeds of one $100 Liberty Loan Bond will fully clothe, arm, and equip one American soldier. Each purchaser of a Liberty Loan Bond for $100 may feel that his or her money is doing its individual part in the arming and equipping of one of our country's soldiers. To some who wish that they could actively serve their country in the field but who have been denied this privilege this gives a specific, tangible nature to an investment in a Liberty Loan Bond.

DR. FRYMIRE SENTENCED TO TWENTY-ONE YEARS

Convicted of Murder of Henry W. Schaefer in Hancock County.

Hawesville, Ky., June 9.—The jury in the case of Dr. P. W. Frymire, charged with the murder of Henry W. Schaefer, returned a verdict of guilty late this afternoon, fixing his punishment at 21 years imprisonment. The jury was out only forty-five minutes.

The murder was committed June 19, 1916, at Floral, this county. Much excitement resulted, and Dr. Frymire was shot before captured. He was brought here, then taken to Owensboro for safe-keeping.

Dr. Frymire had belonged to the Masonic order. He was expelled from the Floral lodge at the instigation of Henry Schaefer, who was on the committee to investigate the charges against him.

For about two years he resided in Arkansas. Conceiving the idea that being reinstated in the lodge would give him prestige in his home, he proceeded to Floral for the purpose of inducing Henry Schaefer to use his influence to rescind the order expelling him. After remaining in the neighborhood from Saturday until Monday near noon he met Mr. Schaefer at Floral and expressed a desire to talk to him. They retired to a vacant schoolhouse. After remaining there about thirty minutes several pistol shots were heard. In a few minutes Dr. Frymire came out of the schoolhouse.

AN ENJOYABLE EVENING SPENT

Sunday, June 3, 1917, was memorial day at Bell's Run Baptist church, Ohio county, with the local lodge of N. W. A's. It has been their custom for many years to secure a speaker for that day. This year Ben W. Taylor had charge of that part of the work and secured Messrs. Rossa Holbrook, W. W. Browder and Prof. Ozma Shults. All of these gentlemen made splendid addresses which were much appreciated by the great congregation of people who had come out to hear them. To say the people enjoyed the speeches puts it mildly, they were much moved. Thanks to the part of the delegation from Hartford who were present who did not speak, as well as the ones who spoke.

NEW LAND IS FOUND.

New York.—The first detailed news from Donald B. McMillan, head of the so-called Crocker Land expedition, announcing that he and his companions had only enough supplies to last them until August of this year and urging that another relief ship be sent to them, was received here by Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History and chairman of the Crocker Land Committee.

BOOY IS SWEEPED HALF MILE INTO TREE TOP

Vine Grove Woman Carried Long Distance By Wind, Killed—Missing Several Days.

Vine Grove, Ky., June 8.—The body of Mrs. Raymond Flowers, missing since Wednesday morning, when a cyclone broke over the city, today was found in the top of a tall tree half a mile from her home, where it had been swept by the gale.

Mrs. Flowers' home was destroyed by the storm and she was reported to be missing at noon Wednesday. A searching party, which at once formed, scoured the town for a clue to the woman's whereabouts, but it was not until the search had been prosecuted for two days that the body was discovered.

It rested in a tree top and evidently had been carried half a mile by the wind. The woman was at her home at the time the storm burst.

BAIZE—DANIEL.

Miss Lena Baize, of Beaver Dam, and Mrs. Anthony Daniel, of Hartford, surprised their many friends by being united in matrimony on Saturday night at the bride's home one-half mile east of Beaver Dam. Rev. Charles Frank performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a beautiful light blue crepe de chine dress trimmed in silver lace; the groom wore a dark suit.

Their many friends wish them a long and happy life.

The Magic of Fife and Drum.

Music is necessary in war. There is inspiration in the sound of the fife and drum. Men of normal courage will fight bravely when across the field of battle come the thrilling notes of the fife and the muffled beat of the drum.

It was the fife and the drum that led our forefathers up Bunker Hill and even the days of the late war were marked by the encouraging rhythm of the fife and drum.

At the beginning of the European war Lord Kitchener advised against the organization of fife and drum corps. He declared it was a useless waste of men, and men were needed to fight, not to play music. This sounded odd, coming from a veteran of many campaigns. He must have known the important part that music has played in all wars since the very beginning of time.

When he advised against a continuation of the fife and drum corps in the army he was met with a loud and bitter protest, not only from the men in line, but from the officers and the press of England.

Rudyard Kipling was the first to declare in print that the idea was absurd. The men more conservatively reminded English military leaders of the inadvisability of such a move, but Kitchener had his way.

We are glad to say, however, that the fife and drum have been restored. Men sing in the trenches. The whistle of bullets and the shriek of shells have little effect in deterring the inspiring trend of their songs.

On the eve of battle, as the troops begin to move forward, there is nothing that so quickens the pulse-beat or stirs the latent courage of the weakest man as the distant beat of the drum and the shrill notes of the fife. Fallen cities of France were ringing with patriotic songs even before the smoke of battle cleared.

Every warship in the service of our government is fitted with its band, and music plays a great part in the development of our naval strength. It is music that brings with it encouragement, hope and renewed vitality.

It is music in times of peace that cheers, and it is music in times of war that brings with it courage and inspiration.

We are glad for the soldiers of England that the fife and drum corps have been restored.—[Commercial Appeal.]

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION LEFT IN PATH OF STORM

Elbert Austin and Guy Draper Killed—Barns and Dwellings Demolished.

Storm Crosses Green River At Little Bend.

A very destructive tornado and windstorm struck the southern part of Ohio county last Wednesday evening between 5 and 6 o'clock, killing two young men, several head of horses and cattle, numbers of hogs and blowing down and wrecking quite a number of farm houses, barns and other outbuildings.

The two young men killed were Mr. Elbert Austin, son of Mr. E. G. Austin, and a young man by the name of Draper, who was working for Mr. Dick Simmons. They in company with Mr. Simmons, at the approach of the storm, had gone to the barn for shelter, but Mr. Simmons left the barn and went to the house, got his wife and children and got out of the pathway of the storm. The barn was a complete wreck and the bodies of the two young men were found several hundred yards away.

Among those losing their buildings and otherwise sustaining more or less damage were: Jack Taylor, house and all outbuildings, S. T. Elliott, house and barn, Shep Taylor, two dwellings, two barns and nearly 100 head of hogs, H. C. McCroclin, house, etc., Elmer Reed, dwelling and other buildings, and numerous others sustaining more or less damage whose names we were unable to get.

One very peculiar and unexplainable freak of this cyclone, was the fact that it killed dozens of chickens, turkeys and geese, leaving them scattered all over the surrounding country and not a feather left to their bodies, but in some manner all the feathers had been removed.

OUR EXCHANGES.
An organization known as the Camp Fire Girls, has recently been organized in the city with the following charter members: Misses Martha Carolyn Tate, Mary Warren Collins, Lora Rogers, Nouatt Rhoads, Gertrude Schleimner, Margaret King, Rose Ethelene Collins, Angella Irtle, Mae Mount, Sallie Shults, Sallie Bean.

Miss Lelia Glenn has been elected as guardian. The primary object or purpose of the organization is unknown to the writer, but it seems among other diversions they devote greatly on "HIKING."

A few days ago they "hiked" the complete round trip to Centertown and back, a distance of something like sixteen miles in an incredibly short length of time, and every member claimed to enjoy the experience immensely.

Last Monday afternoon putting a "ban" on autos and jitneys they "hiked" to Beaver Dam, took in the sights of our neighboring city, enjoyed "The Crisis" at the Barnes Opera House and then "hiked" back home again, making better time it is said than some autos or flying machines.

We understand their next "hike" will be to Sonthard's Cave, some three miles south of Mellenz, and then if no serious results follow they plan to "hike" to the Mammoth Cave, only a very short distance away, (as they say), only about 75 or 80 miles.

"Hike" on girls, don't give up, or get discouraged. The Herald congratulates you and wishes for you unbounded joy on your future "hikes," for what is a "little, tinsy corn or two" or a new pair of shoe soles occasionally in comparison with the immense amount of real, pure, unadulterated fun you are getting from these "hikes." In the language of some eminent author, we say—"Hike On!"

The following young ladies were their guests and joined them on their "hike" to Beaver Dam, Monday evening: Misses Willie Bennett, Edna Ward, Vera Middle, Mary Bean, Melville Rhoads, Marjann Likens, Cliffee Felix, Louise Phipps, Elizabeth Moore, and Mattie Duke.

SOME PATRIOT.

Frederick Miller must take off long pants, leave Fort Slocum, return to Baltimore in knickerbockers and become Freddy again because it was discovered he is only fourteen, though five feet six inches and weighs 160 pounds.

THE CHAMPION.

Terry White Hammond, who was the champion in the Pig Club last year, sold six pigs for $60. These pigs were just two months old. He brought his sow and pigs to town, and returned home with sixty dollars in his pocket and the sow and one pig.—[Cadiz Record.]

The flag recently presented to the Boy Scouts of Hartford by Hon. G. B. Likens, has been placed over the entrance to the post-office.

TOLL OF 24 LIVES

TAKEN BY STORM

150 Injured and Property Is Damaged in Kansas and Missouri.

Springfield, Mo.—Seven persons were killed and much damage done in the rich Wright county apple belt when a tornado swooped down between Mountain Grove and Norwood. All wires are down and only meager reports have come from the stricken district.

Kansas City.—Tornadoes spread death and destruction through rural districts of Missouri and Kansas. Reports showed fifteen were killed in Missouri and nine in Kansas. The number of injured has reached approximately 150 and estimates of the property damage place it anywhere from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. The greatest loss of life apparently was in Boone county, Mo., where the tornado ripped here and there as it swept from the southwestern to the northeastern corner, claimed eleven persons. In Carroll, Chariton and Ray counties, farther west four are dead—three at Richmond and one at Whitam.

In Kansas the deaths totalled eight in the country southeast and west of Topeka, one other was killed at Samburg, near Iola, where the tornado appeared early today.

The course of the tornado was marked by odd jumps. First it appeared near Topeka early in the day and then came to earth again in Ray county, Mo., shortly before midnight. Then it tore through a wide section of that county, wiped out half the town of Dean Lake, in Carroll county and then swooped down again, practically demolishing the little town of Whitam.

The tornado descended again at Providence in the hills of Southwest Boone county and twisted its way through Midway, Prathersville, Hallsville and through Centralia after which it disappeared and was heard of no more until it struck Samburg, Kas.

WIFE KILLS HER TWO BABIES; ENDS LIFE

Russellville, Ky.—Mrs. Henry Hutchinson, 22 years old, cut the throats of her two young daughters, aged 4 years and 10 months, and then committed suicide at the Hutchinson home, ten miles north of New Wednesday late. Hutchinson, who is a farmer, found the bodies of his wife and children on his return from the fields. A bloody razor was found on the floor near the wife's body.

Sheriff James S. Taylor and Coroner J. I. Rice announced that a thorough investigation would be made of every circumstance connected with the tragedy. Hutchinson said he knew of no reason why his wife should wish to end her life or ill-treat her children unless it was through the fear that he would be drafted for service in France.

FIGHT OVER THE WAR

Follows Argument Between Two Owensboro Attorneys.

Owensboro, Ky.—Albert B. Oberst and L. P. Tanner, two prominent attorneys of the Owensboro bar, engaged in a fist fight Wednesday as the result of an argument over the war.

Oberst is the son of one of the most prominent citizens of this county, and when Tanner and he engaged in an argument the lie passed. Each of the men struck the other and they clinched before bystanders could separate them.

NEGRO TRAITOR CAUGHT

He Tried to Keep Colored Men From Registering.

Bowling Green, Ky.—Eugene Hardin, colored, aged twenty years, was lodged in the Warren county jail following an examining trial at Russellville on a charge of committing treasonable utterances and acts against the United States Government. His bond was placed at $2,500. Hardin, it is alleged, attempted to dissuade negroes from registering, and is said to have stated that if he was of age he would fight for Germany.

HELD FOR LARCENY OF $65,000.

New York.—Robert Moore, sales manager for William R. Craig & Co., cotton and grain brokers, was arrested here charged with the larceny of $65,000 of the firm's money. The police said Moore confessed that his speculations may amount to $150,000. He admitted speculating in cotton and wheat and the use of the firm's money after his own savings were gone. He had been with the firm for thirteen years and had a salary of $100 a week.

GIVE UP MYSTERY OF "IRON COFFIN"

Morris, Ill.—The Man in the Iron Coffin mystery has been given up here after five months' effort at solution. The coffin accidentally disinterred in the city cemetery, has been reinterred in a remote section of the graveyard with a marker above without a name.

When the body was dug out of the earth no record could be found to identify it. None could remember the man.

Even the fact that the coffin was made of iron failed to stir up identification. Not even the oldest residents could remember such a case.

BRITISH AVIATOR BURNED TO DEATH

Deseronto, Ont.—While flying with Vernon Castle at Camp Mohawk, Capt. W. E. Fraser, of Winnipeg, Man., was burned to death. Castle escaped with slight injuries. The two were ascending for instructional purposes when Fraser was seized with nervousness and lost control. The machine swept backward into the hangar and the gasoline tank exploded, setting fire to the hangar. Castle was thrown out when the aeroplane hit the shell.

TWO TAKE BIRDS JUNE 5. REGISTER AS MARRIED MEN

Seabee, Ky.—Two young men of the country near here registered late Tuesday afternoon as married men that could not have done so in the morning of the same day. Melton Wilson was married to Miss Calla Legatt in Bridgeport, Ill., Tuesday morning and registered here in the afternoon. John K. Crow and Miss Loella Garrard were married in Evansville Tuesday afternoon returning here on the afternoon train in time for the bridegroom to register as a married man.

AUTO KILLS TURKEY.

Someone driving an automobile Sunday, June 3d, on the Hartford and Centertown pike, ran over and killed a valuable turkey hen and chicken hen for Mrs. James H. Thomas, about two miles below Hartford. If people driving automobiles do not own poultry and have not the experience of hard work it takes to raise them, as well as the money invested in them, and realize they are being raised for the money they will bring that the money may be used for the necessities of life, they should, at least, respect their fellowbeings who do own these fowls, and are trying in an honest way, to earn a living. They would appreciate very much being invited to our country homes to a turkey dinner on Thanksgiving or at Christmas time. They really feel they deserve it, and should be our honored guests. Yet they don't respect us enough to check the speed of their car and save the lives of our fowls. They need not say they didn't see them, if it had been a rock or stump as large as the turkey or chicken hen they would have seen it. If the person driving this car is a gentleman or lady they will come and pay me the price of these fowls.

(Mrs.) J. H. THOMAS,
Hartford, R. F. D. 4.

MOTHERS VOTE UNDER 22 FLAGS

Flags That Float For Woman Suffrage

War Brings Woman's Freedom Nearer.

Flags of 22 nations waved before the Senate of the United States on April 20th, as a visible reminder that all these nations have given full or partial suffrage to the women of their countries by parliamentary procedure. The countries are: Great Britain, including England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Honduras, South Africa; Scandinavia, including Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Iceland; France; Russia; Netherlands, Mexico; Porto Rico; Hawaii; Burmah.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt appeared at the Senate hearing, in behalf of the Federal Suffrage Amendment, flanked by these 22 flags, as a concrete illustration of the fact that in no country except the United States are women forced to seek political freedom by referendum to a general electorate.

Since January 1, 1917, the franchise has been conferred upon the women of Ontario, Canada, by act of the provincial legislature.

Municipal Suffrage for French and Italian Women.

After eleven years of waiting French women have this year seen their municipal suffrage bill favorably voted on by the Universal Suffrage Committee of the Chamber of Deputies. This bill when passed, will give French women municipal franchise and municipal eligibility. Its reporter, Pierre Etienne Flandin, deputy from the Yonne, believes that its chances of passage are good and that, once passed, the vote for national representatives will soon be added.

On May 5th, Premier Boselli of Italy had this to say about the bill for woman suffrage presented by Deputy Muratelli to the Italian Parliament: "As far as the vote for municipal elections is concerned I do not think there can be either doubt or delay in giving it on the same conditions as it is given to men."

A few weeks ago, the president of the Committee of Civil Assistance, Signor Adolfo Appolloni, made this appeal to the Italian Minister, Signor Boselli:

"The women deserve the admiration not simply of Rome but of all Italy. Let us pay to women the same honors paid to men who are fighting. Considering that our ancestors placed women in the highest positions, surrounding them with the greatest respect and privilege in the institution of the Vestal Virgins, we should also give them a higher status, that they may with enthusiasm and devotion, minister to the dearest and noblest of institutions—our country."

Russian Women's Enfranchisement Will Be Demanded by the People.

In Russia, women will be included in the revolutionary turnover. Assurance has come from Prince Lvoff, Premier of the Provisional Government, that women are to help elect delegates to the Constituent Assembly. "With such a radical change," says one dispatch, "full extension of the franchise to them will follow soon." In the meanwhile at the Congress of Workers, Soldiers and Delegates held in Petrograd on April 17, a report was adopted containing the recommendation that "women shall have the same voting right as men."

Minister Kerensky is a suffragist and it is the opinion of Mr. J. G. Ohsol, a member of the second Duma, now in this country, that the workmen's councils will insist that, since women have borne a leading part in every revolutionary and educational movement in modern Russia, they shall be enfranchised at once. "To deny these women even temporarily the right to vote on the future of Russia," says Mr. Ohsol, "will not be tolerated by the masses." It is the opinion of Russian women of prominence in this country that behind the Russian revolution is the shining promise of woman's freedom.

On April 29th, Gustavus Loske, a member of the German Reichstag openly advocated full woman suffrage in Germany, "on the ground that it was through the efforts of millions of German women that the existence of the nation had been preserved."

WOMAN'S WAR SERVICE IN AGRICULTURE

Among the 2,000,000 suffragists now mobilizing for war service, in response to the call to the colors by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, work on the soil seems to be popular. The women are putting their accustomed suffrage initiative and energy into the organization of hoe and spade brigades—by no means neglecting their suffrage work as they dig and plant.

With the co-operation of State and Federal authorities, already eight states are in the vanguard for agricultural work.

Connecticut suffragists are setting apart "patriotic lots" for every rural and small town league. Upon a farm, eight miles from Greenwich, belonging to Miss Ryan and Miss Runtz-Rees, will be established the Fairfield County Camp Farming School. Here an eight weeks' course in practical farming and care of stock is to be given.

Costume for Suffrage Farmers, Designed by Mrs. Ruth Litt, N. Y. State Chairman for Suffrage Agriculture.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Litt, state chairman of suffrage agriculture, an extensive warfare in trenches turned up by the peaceful plow will be on the program for New York State. Mrs. Litt is a practical farmer, managing for herself her large estate, Jackwill Farm, East Patchogue, Long Island. She has designed one of the most practical of the experimental service costumes for women who are to do farm service.

New Jersey has the distinction of containing the large farm, owned and run by Mrs. Henry Wade Rogers, National Chairman for suffrage agriculture. New Jersey women suffragists are all for the mighty potato. They are doing their bit on lots set apart for culture of the homely tuber, and the pursuit of the potato bug is to take the place of mosquito warfare in New Jersey this year.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE A CONSERVING FORCE

Falling in line with the offer of war service made by the National American Woman Suffrage Association to the President of the United States, various state suffrage associations have called their members into real and practical service.

The first act of the president of the Nebraska State Suffrage Association, Mrs. W. E. Barkley, was to line up her members in suffrage thrift clubs. Many Nebraska home-makers have been in the habit of ordering in the summer, the winter's supply of vegetables and fruits from their local grocers. This year the state suffrage organization is awakening its members to the fact that Nebraska women can raise and put up their own foodstuffs, and so free the produce of the canning factories for exportation or for the army, wherever, in fact, it will be most needed.

FINIS—THE ADDER.

In an editorial about the purchase of the adding machine by the Fiscal Court, the Republican says that we knew that a good Democratic official tried to block the purchase of this machine, which is absolutely correct. Not only the good Democratic official to which he refers, but the other Democratic members of the court as well.

But the Republicans were in the majority and bought it.

Then the Democrats, naturally, set about to avoid, if possible, paying for it and took the matter into court, backed by the Republican County Attorney, as the records will show.

To make a long story short, the Circuit Judge held that the sale was valid and entered judgment in favor of the adding machine company for the purchase price.

Of course this added cost to the machine, but why say the good Democratic official was at the bottom of the additional cost, when he was backed by the Republican County Attorney? This Republican official didn't see the feasibility of buying the machine and he also endeavored to block the payment of same.

Not so many weeks ago the editor was present at a session of the Fiscal Court when an attorney presented a voucher calling for the purchase price of the machine with interest from date of judgment. It was some time before he could get a motion to allow the claim, and when a motion was finally made to allow it, on a yeas and nays vote, only two members of the court voted to pay it, and they were the ones who made and seconded the motion.

A while later another attorney, of the same firm, went before the court and told them if they did not pay the claim, The Herald would have something more to say about the adder, and upon a second vote the claim was allowed.

The Republican might explain to its readers this action of its Republican court—mountain we write: "Finis—the adder."

BENDING THE LAW.

From Frankfort comes the announcement that one member of the General Assembly is to be appointed to a place under the Tax Commission at a salary of $2,400 per annum. We regard this unfortunate for the Commission in view of the State Constitution which provides:

"No Senator or Representative shall, during the term for which he was elected, nor for one year thereafter, be appointed or elected to any civil office of profit in this Commonwealth, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during the said term, except to such offices as may be filled by the election of the people."

So much is expected of this Commission in the way of enforcing the laws that we fear it was a mistake to start in by violating the spirit, if not the letter, of the Constitution. We also think it unfortunate for the member who was active in passing the law to accept a place which seemingly makes him a beneficiary of it. He is a splendid citizen and a useful man; and, aside from the apparent inhibition of the Constitution, we know of no objection that could be urged against him. Personally, his appointment is pleasing to us. No doubt he will render as good service as any other could, but this twisting the law "among friends" just somehow seems to weaken the faith of the people in our executive officers.

If our readers find The Herald is not up to standard this time, we ask that they do not criticize us too harshly. It is hard enough in these days of cyclones and scaring war headlines to even write a local or personal, but to stack one of these street fairs right around the editor's door is worse and more of it. Between the thrum of the piano and the roll of "Ice cold lemonade, made in the shade, stirred with a spade and sweetened with a brickbat," "Step right up, gentlemen, try your luck—one ball, one cigar, two balls, two cigars, three balls, a half a dollar;" the ballyhoo of the plantation minstrels and the yells of the speller in front of the "human spider" tent trying to bamboozle the people into paying 10c to see the greatest fake on earth, we were unable for three days to collect our thoughts sufficiently to say anything other than—well, it wouldn't look good in print. About the time we began to sum up the day's toll of human life by tornado and shell the organ on the merry-go-round would start playing "The End of a Perfect Day," which, to the editor, of course was the end of anything but a perfect day. But such is life!

The deadly grade crossing! Why does Kentucky tolerate them? Four High School Juniors had their lives snuffed out at Henderson recently when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Henderson and Evansville traction car. At Lyndon, near Louisville, a young man was killed about the same time by being struck by an L. & N. train at a grade-crossing.

Two Owensboro attorneys were arraigned in Police Court recently after a fistic encounter, the result of an argument over the war. Keep out of war arguments and keep out of police and other courts. Then, what is gained by an argument? After it is all over—the participants are right where they began—each still believing that he is right, and the other fellow's wrong.

The editor has gone to Louisville to attend the Press Association. He has left the getting out of this week's Herald to Jim, J. I., Prof. Shults and the "devil." So if the paper is not up to expectations, don't come to us with your grievances, but go to the "devil" with them—he's the guy that gets the blame for everything around here, anyway.

A Bowling Green youth took carbolic acid in an attempt to commit suicide, because his girl turned him down. The next day the object of his affections consented to marry him and the knot was tied. Truly this man owes his life (and three "suicides" per day) to his better half.

Red liquor with $5.00 government tax per gallon will cost 59 cents a drink and a good many won't have the 50 cents.—[Elizabethtown News.]

A good many haven't the time to get the drink today, but they get it just the same.

Headline reads: "Grant right to curtail passenger service." Not on our fast line through Hartford, however, for our passenger service ever here has been curtailed to two coaches in the rear of a string of flats and box cars already.

Oh, you American runners! In a battle recently between a German submarine and an armed American steamer the undersea craft was blown out of the water and apparently sunk, as she never appeared again.

Several ice men of Louisville, have been called by the grand jury in an endeavor to ascertain the cause of advancing price of ice in that city. Possibly an endeavor on the part of the big fellows to freeze out the little ones.

Culpepper, the evangelist, has just closed a revival at Princeton. There were 312 conversions and $717.16 was contributed to the evangelist by the Princeton people. Inject religion if you wish to extract the money.

Calm yourself, Pluke, old boy—the next time the tents, merry-go-round and "barkers" come to town if they don't locate up in your neck-o-the-woods, we'll rent you office space in the "heart of things" awful cheap.

"We have no possible chance to win," says German officer. "Experience after British drive should end war," he says. But the officer is at the front and Kaiser safe in Berlin, any maybe they don't see alike.

Oh-you-ee! Chop-suey! Philip Kee, a Chinese interpreter at Ellis Island, has recruited 690 American-born Chinese in the United States army. Give 'em a pound of rice, a gun and let 'em go to the front.

The champion of the Trigg County Pig Club recently sold six two-month-old pigs for $60, and still has the sow (mother of the pigs sold) and one pig. See what you can do, boys of Ohio? Get busy!

Dig! Dig! No, not under those potato vines, but down into your jeans and fish that old 50-spot that has been lying dormant, lo! these many years, and buy a liberty bond. It's patriotic!

A dispatch says the Ute Indians of Colorado refused to register under the selective draft act. It also says that they were full of liquor. Old J. B. Corn again getting in his work.

It is estimated that 9,000,000 men, within the age limit, registered under the Selective Draft Act in the United States. How many will claim exemption remains to be seen.

The age limit for airmen has been reduced to nineteen, says a dispatch. This does not include the airmen of the "hot" variety, as there has never been a limit placed on them.

A large snake was recently discovered in a bunch of bananas by an Iowa store clerk. We know lots of fellows who don't have to go to a banana stalk to discover them.

A Richmond, W. Va., youth was arrested for registering twice June 5. We say let him go and get some of those who were so unpatriotic as to avoid registering at all.

Ballard county has two women candidates for School Superintendent, and Ernest Lane, the incumbent, is also a candidate for re-election.

A man's wife is often spoken of as his better half. We know some men's wives who are their better two-thirds.

We think if Sherman was alive today he would say: "This is a h— of a war."

Three days more in which to buy a liberty loan bond. Get busy!

Save all you can. Can all you can, but don't hoard.

SOY BEANS

For Seed Suet hot the Potomac and Ohio Rivers.

Washington, D. C.—The southern planter still has ample time to plant soy beans for a seed crop, and it offers him at the present time one of the best cash grain crops to supplement cotton.

South of the Potomac and Ohio rivers excellent results may be obtained by planting after winter grain and early potatoes are removed, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. In such instances the land need only be thoroughly disked to secure a suitable seed bed. Late varieties as the Mammoth may be planted as late as June 15 to 20 and mature good yields of seeds. Early varieties, such as the San, Medium Yellow, Mikado and Mongol, may be planted in the Cotton Belt as late as July 15 and still mature the crop for seed.

The yellow-seeded varieties are preferred, especially by food manufacturers. The Mammoth Yellow is especially adapted to the Southern States for seed production. Considerable quantities of seed of this variety are still available for planting.

The soy bean already has reached a place of high economic importance in America and Europe as a food-stuff. The seed of the soy bean, unlike that of the cowpea, rarely is attacked by the weevil or other grain insects. Even where the oil is extracted the resultant meal is a very desirable food. During the present season the demand for seed by food manufacturers has resulted in greatly increased prices. In view of the large demand, production in excess of requirements is very improbable and this season's crop undoubtedly will command profitable prices. The soy bean also is a soil improver and the straw is valuable for feeding purposes.

MRS. LUCY S. CROWE

Death At Madison, Ind—Sister Of Mrs. E. W. Hughes.

After an illness of more than three months, Mrs. Lucy S. Crowe passed away here. She leaves a sister, Mrs. E. W. Hughes, of West Second street, at whose home she died, and a brother, Robert C. Smith, of Orange, California.

She was the daughter of Rev. William O. and Mary Wallace Smith and was born February 9, 1841, at Owensboro, Ky. She was educated at Owensboro and at the Greenville Institute, of Greenville, Ky.

In 1868 she became the wife of Rev. George Condie Crowe, a Presbyterian minister and a native of Nova Scotia. Mr. Crowe was a teacher as well as a minister, of much ability. For a number of years he and Mrs. Crowe taught in Kentucky and Tennessee.

After the death of Mr. Crowe in 1896, Mrs. Crowe continued her work of teaching, interrupted only by the devoted care she gave her mother in the latter's declining years.

For several years she had been teaching at Greenville, Tenn., but two years ago she came to Madison to make her home with her sister. During that time she has made many friends. Possessed of a fine intellect, she was also a great reader and took a lively interest in current events.

But her interest was centered in the Bible, of which she was a most thorough student. She taught a Bible class of ladies in the First Presbyterian Sabbath School and for several months before her illness had a class in Bible instruction, consisting of the nurses of the King's Daughters' hospital.

She will be remembered for dignified and graceful manner, her beauty of person and of character, and her devoted Christianity.—Madison (Ind.) Courier.

Mrs. Crowe was at one time a resident of Hartford, she having taught private school here, and lived at the home of Mr. H. P. Taylor. She was a woman of fine character and well beloved by all who knew her.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS.

The next examination for teachers will be held at Fordsville next Friday and Saturday, June the 15th and 16th. Please let all those interested take notice.

DARING SEA ROVER

An Audacious Commerce Raider of the Days of 1863.

READ'S CAMPAIGN OF TERROR.

For a Time This Clever Young Confederate Naval Officer, by the Name He Wrought, Had the Shipping Trade of the North in a State of Panic.

The daring and romantic exploits of the roving commerce destroying cruisers in the great European war recall the deeds of a very brave and clever officer who acted as a commerce destroyer in the service of the Confederacy. Lieutenant Charles W. Read, a Mississippian in his early twenties, who had been in the United States navy, joined the Confederate cruiser Florida on Nov. 4, 1862, while she lay at Mobile undergoing repairs. Read had already seen gunboat service in the fighting at New Orleans.

On May 6, 1863, off the coast of Brazil the Florida captured the brig Clarence, bound from Rio de Janeiro to Baltimore with a cargo of coffee. Lieutenant Read suggested that he be permitted to take the captive, with her cargo and papers intact, and, proceeding to Hampton roads, gain entrance there and either cut out a gunboat or burn the shipping gathered in the roads. Captain Maillat gave him a howitzer and detailed an assistant engineer and twenty men for the enterprise.

A month later, off the South Carolina coast, the Clarence captured and burned the bark Whistling Wind, from Philadelphia to New Orleans with coal. The next day it picked up the schooner Alfred H. Partridge, and Read put her captain under a $5,000 bond to deliver the cargo of arms and clothing to the Confederates. On June 9 he took the brig Mary Alvina, Boston to New Orleans with commissary stores.

From his prisoners Read came to the conclusion that an attempt to enter Hampton Roads would meet with certain failure, and he turned his attention entirely to destroying Federal commerce. On June 12, within eight miles of Cape Henry, he made four captures—the bark Tacony, the schooner M. A. Shindler, the schooner Kate Stewart and the brig Arabella. Since the Clarence was a poor sailer, the young commander transferred his crew and howitzer to the Tacony. The Clarence and the M. A. Shindler he burned. The Arabella he bonded for $30,000 and the Kate Stewart for $7,000, and he used the latter to take ashore some fifty prisoners.

These captures stirred the shipowners, and the shipowners promptly stirred up the secretary of the navy. The naval commanders at Newport News, Philadelphia and New York were ordered to send out vessels to chase the raider, which they did.

Meanwhile the Tacony, under her new colors, captured the brig Umpire, which, with her cargo of sugar and molasses, was burned on June 15. Five days later the Tacony seized the packet ship Isaac Webb, Liverpool to New York with 750 passengers on board, and Read bonded her for $40,000. The same day he destroyed the fishing schooner Mewber. The clipper ship Byzantium and the bark Goodspeed, both bound for New York, were sunk on the next day, which was June 21.

By that time there were more than twenty Federal vessels pursuing the Tacony, and the shipping interests of New York were almost in a state of panic.

Read now sailed northward and off the coast of Massachusetts captured four fishing schooners on June 22. The following day he took two more. On June 24 he held up the ship Shuteau, from Liverpool to Boston, carrying a large number of immigrants, and bonded her for $150,000. That night he captured the fishing schooner Archer.

As the ammunition for the howitzer had become exhausted, Read transferred his crew to the Archer and burned the Tacony. On the morning of June 26 he picked up Portland light. Two fishermen, who mistook the schooner for a pleasure party, piloted her into Portland harbor.

The following morning at half past 1 o'clock Read and his men boarded the revenue cutter Caleb Cushing. She was captured without an alarm being given, but the tide was running in before her new masters could get her under way, and the wind had dropped.

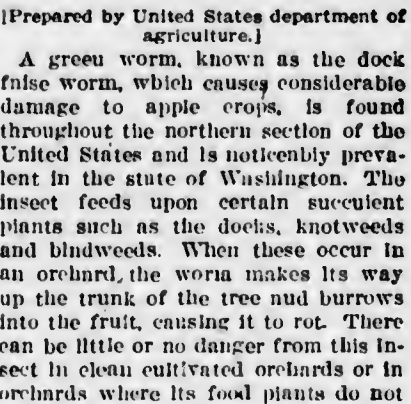

They did escape from the harbor, but about twenty miles outside two large steamers bearing soldiers and armed civilians overhauled the cutter. Read had not been able to find the vessel's stock of ammunition, and after firing a few rounds at the pursuing steamers he put off his prisoners, set the cutter on fire and, with his crew, took to the

MEASURES OF CONTROL FOR DOCK FALSE WORM

[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

A green worm, known as the dock false worm, which causes considerable damage to apple crops, is found throughout the northern section of the United States and is noticeably prevalent in the state of Washington. The insect feeds upon certain succulent plants such as the docks, knotweeds and bindweeds. When these occur in an orchard, the worm makes its way up the trunk of the tree and burrows into the fruit, causing it to rot. There can be little or no danger from this insect in clean cultivated orchards or in orchards where its food plants do not exist. However, where a perennial cover crop such as alfalfa is grown other control measures must be taken. Efficient protection may be secured by banding the trees with cotton batting or with some sticky substance. In experiments by the department an eight inch strip of cotton batting was placed about the trunk of each tree and tied with a cord about the middle. The upper half of the cotton band was then rolled down over the cord. Good results also were obtained by applying to the trunks of the trees a band of a commercial sticky substance one-eighth inch thick and three inches wide. The lower limbs of the trees should be kept well up from the ground, and any props used also should be banded. Bands should be put on in the latter part of August and left on until after the fruit is harvested.

The work of the dock false worm in apples is shown in the accompanying illustration. Preventive methods against this orchard pest, recommended by the United States department of agriculture, consists in banding the trees.

From the standpoint of conserving its plant food about the poorest place manure can be kept is in a heap, writes a correspondent of the Ohio Farmer. It is likely to ferment and in so doing it will lose nitrogen and organic matter, and unless it is protected from rains there is likely to be much loss from leaching. In experiments at the Ohio station manure stored in heaps from January to April lost 33 per cent of its organic matter, 22 per cent of its phosphorus, 51 per cent of its potassium and 36 per cent of its nitrogen. While I would not undertake to say that there are no losses when it is spread in the field, they are greatly reduced, as long time experiments have proved. The greater part of the leachings are promptly absorbed by the soil and are distributed where they are wanted.

The Drama.

"Young man, you attend lectures regularly, but you don't apply yourself. I don't think you'll do very much in medicine."

"I don't expect to go in for medicine, professor. I'm just gathering material for a clinical play."

Physical Courage

Every battle fought in Europe creates heroes. Some of them are recognized; the names of some will never be known.

Every battle fought since the beginning of the world created a hero and the pages of history are filled with them. It is said that even the cowardly man on the battlefield is sustained with the excitement of the conflict, that he becomes passionate with the lust for blood and unconsciously feels himself to be a brave man, says the Commercial Appeal.

The brave man, to display courage, does not merely have to overlook danger. The real hero is not a man of the moment. He must be a changer. He must see in this danger almost certain death and, with clear head and full appreciation of what confronts him, meet this danger.

This is the real hero. There are heroes of the moment. This cannot be questioned. On the spur of the moment, without regard to what the outcome may be, some men plunge recklessly into danger. The act of heroism is the act of impulse.

But did it ever occur to you that the world's great heroes have not always been found on the battlefield.

The greatest hero the world has ever known, the greatest that the world will ever know, was the lowly Nazarene when He dragged the cross to the scene of His crucifixion. When Christ rode into Jerusalem He knew that He rode to His death. Yet the trial was faced with a heroism that has never been and never will be equaled.

When the Lusitania went down heroes were made in a minute. Knowing that they had not a chance in the world, they gave way that the weak might be cared for, and some of the greatest men of science and letters died with smiles on their faces and with the supreme thought that they had given up their lives that others might be saved.

The biggest brute in the world can display physical courage. A prize fighter may enter the ring absolutely devoid of moral courage and make a brave fight. The audience will declare that he is the possessor of wonderful courage and he becomes a hero in the eyes of a worshipping public.

This is not the spirit of courage that counts. Heroes are easily made, but real moral courage is rare.

GIRL SAVES LIVES OF TWO COMPANIONS

Dayton, Ky.—Miss Florence Bary, champion swimmer of Ohio and Kentucky, saved the lives of Joseph Montgomery and Miss Catherine Smith Friday night. They, with Floyd Pickett, were companions with her in a canoe. The steamer Princess hit the frail craft and all were thrown into the river. Miss Smith can not swim. She grasped Miss Bary. Montgomery, member of a church athletic club, his lungs filled with water also clung to Miss Bary who was struggling hard. Finally he told her to release him and devote her energy to saving Miss Smith. She clung to both, however, and kept them above water until help arrived. Pickett, in the meantime, reached shore. Friends are going to ask for a Carnegie medal for Miss Bary, who has saved eight persons from drowning.

DON'T HARVEST YOUR WHEAT TOO EARLY

Owing to high prices of flour it may be the tendency of many farmers to harvest their wheat crop too early. In some sections of the State the crop is promising, but to harvest before the berry has had time to mature would mean a big loss to the farmers. Great care should be exercised in harvesting wheat to get the largest yields and grain that will make the best grade of flour.

Wheat should be harvested when the grain is in the dough stage. At this stage the berries can be indented with the finger nails, but they are not milky. Harvesting at this stage insures the largest yields. If harvesting is begun before the grain is in the dough stage there will be a considerable loss due to shrinkage, and in the poor quality of flour milled from such grain. If harvesting is deferred until the grain is dead ripe much grain will be lost by shattering.

The feeding value of the straw is decreased if it is cut after the grain has passed through the dough stage.

Oats and rape alone, or oats and rape combined, sown early in this month make excellent forage crops for pigs. If oats alone are used, sow at least three bushels per acre; if combined with rape, sow two bushels of oats and three pounds of rape per acre.

Dr. Frederic Jacobson says, 75% of Women Need Phosphates to Give Them Strong, Healthy, Rounded Figure and to avoid Nervous Breakdown. Thousands of Women Grow Strong in Nature's Way.

"Consider the Lilies of the Field, How They Grow." The life of the lily is but a few weeks or months. The life of man is "three score years and ten." But to live one's life in its fullness, women like the lily, must be nourished by those same vital elements which nature provides for nourishing every living thing; and these include the valuable phosphate so often lacking in the usual food we eat today. Argo-Phosphate is rich in these wonderful elements. It contains them in concentrated tablet form which is easy to take and quickly assimilated and absorbed into the system, and from you to old age, builds and rebuilds body and brain in beautiful harmony with Nature's perfect plan. "That's why" Argo-Phosphate makes good solid flesh and muscles.

SPECIAL NOTICE: Argo-Phosphate contains the Natural phosphates which thousands of physicians are prescribing daily to build up thin, pale, colorless women, to give them rosy cheeks, red lips, and a beautiful complexion. Many cases have been reported where women have increased their weight from 15 to 25 pounds with a few weeks treatment, and any woman who desires a well rounded and developed form, should secure from her druggist, this new drug which is inexpensive and is dispensed by any reliable druggist with or without a doctor's prescription. If your druggist will not supply you send $1.00 to the Argo Laboratories, 14 Forest St., Atlanta, Ga., and they will send you a two weeks treatment by return mail.

There was a considerable cyclone passed south of us about two miles, crossing Green river between Green River and Fox Brown's; not much damage done there. Next point was the old brick house known as the Clay Taylor house, demolishing it, and wrecked Mrs. Clay Taylor's home. Struck the old house of Richard Taylor the oldest house in that neighborhood, was torn down all but the log walls; also his barn, but fortunately no one hurt seriously, but in the Little Bend two lives were lost and a great loss of property. FISCAL COURT NOTES.

At the last term of the Ohio County Fiscal Court, which convened in Hartford, on Wednesday, June 6, 1917, all the Justices being present and John B. Wilson, Judge, presiding, the following resolution was unanimously adopted as the order of the court:

Whereas, prices for labor, materials and provisions have greatly advanced within the last twelve months, and because it is our desire to co-operate as far as we possibly can with our limited means in the betterment of the roads of the county, and in order to prevent the probable discontinuance of several rural free delivery mail routes in this county because of the almost impossible condition of some of the roads, and also to make unnecessary, as far as can, indictments and prosecutions for willful neglect, failure or refusal of overseers and road hands to perform their duties with reference to road working, and finally for the general convenience and benefit of the people of Ohio county in the use and enjoyment of good public roads to which the people are entitled and which we believe can be had if every body will do all of his duty all the time.

Resolved that it is the judgment of this court that the price of $2.00 a day should be paid for the use of teams on road for plowing or scraping, and this sum should be paid to those who have already worked their teams during the year 1917 and to those who may hereafter furnish teams during this year and that this order be given general publicity throughout the entire county for the purpose of advising road overseers and road hands of this action of the court and for the further purpose of assuring them of the court's willingness to do all within its power consistent with its financial resources and with the proper and economic management of the county's fiscal affairs to bring about and promote better system and condition of public roads in Ohio county, and that the County Attorney distribute and circulate notices and other information of this action of the court and assist in every practicable way in promoting and bringing about the purposes and results sought by this action.

All of which is now ordered. In obedience to the duty imposed upon me by the above order, I have caused these hand bills to be published and have sent them to every section of the county. I ask that they be posted in conspicuous places and given all possible publicity.

There is only a five cent to the One Hundred Dollars road tax paid in this county, and that all goes to the State Road Department. This county, therefore, under the present condition is compelled to rely upon the people to work the roads. It will co-operate and assist in every way it can. The county is to build all bridges 20 feet and over in length and is to furnish all material and pay for the hauling necessary for the construction of bridges under 20 feet. It will buy such strips of land as are needed for right of way where land can be bought at a reasonable price in order to put the road on better ground. It will do anything else it can do that is authorized by law within its means. However a recent decision of the Court of Appeals makes it necessary for Ohio county to pay off as quickly as possible a very large part of its indebtedness in order that it may keep its expenses and indebtedness within the amount of its annual income. The peace, good order, convenience and welfare of Ohio county, and its people, requires that there be a spirit of co-operation between the county, its officials and its people in bringing about a better condition of the county roads. If we will all do our whole duty from now on we will soon have better roads everywhere. It is hoped that this may be done.

June 9, 1917. A. D. KIRK, County Attorney Ohio County.

$50,000 Owners' Contest to Follow Maxwell's Economy Triumph of May 23rd

Hundreds of Maxwells on May 23rd made good our claim that a Maxwell will go further on a gallon of gasoline than any other 5-passenger car—now, from June 16th to 30th, we expect 40,000 Maxwells to make as good or a better showing than was made on historic May 23rd.

We told you to watch the Maxwells with the one-gallon red gas tanks attached to the windshields.

We told you they were going to make history on May 23rd.

That was Maxwell Gasoline Economy Contest Day all over the United States and Canada.

And those Maxwells did make history

—achieved a triumph we defy the world to beat.

Fifty Maxwell cars went a total of 1,983.6 miles on a total of 50 gallons of gasoline.

The average gallon mileage of those cars was 39.67.

And these weren't specially built cars.

They were privately owned Maxwells.

—in actual daily use by the men who bought them.

892 Maxwell Cars Prove What Maxwell Economy Is

Those 892 cars covered 24,505.3 miles in the aggregate on one gallon of gasoline each.

They averaged 27.47 miles each per gallon of gasoline. More wonderful records are being received daily.

We could rest our laurels on this great triumph

—but we don't intend to do that.

Nobody else can beat it

—so we're going to beat it ourselves.

MAY-BARNETT WEDDING.

The marriage of Mr. V. G. Barnett, of Dermott, Ark., and Miss Melissa May, of Atlanta, Ga., was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. May, 1122 Luttrell street, at five o'clock Saturday afternoon, in the presence of a few near relatives and special friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Goddard, pastor of the First Methodist church, using the double ring service.

Before an embankment of ferns, palms and magnolias the bridal couple stood for the saying of the nuptial rites.

A beautiful musical program was rendered before and during the ceremony by Mrs. Roy Slagle and Miss Evadine Harris at the piano, assisted by Miss Margaret Cowell on the violin.

The bride wore a becoming traveling suit of navy Poiret twill and carried a bride's bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony the guests were served a three-course buffet luncheon, a pink and white color motif being observed in the refreshments as well as in the decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnett left for a western trip, stopping at Memphis and Hot Springs, Ark., and after June 15 will be at home at Dermott, Ark.

The out-of-town guests were Miss Mittle May, sister of the bride, St. Cloud, Fla.; Miss Evadne Harris, niece of the bride, St. Cloud, Fla.; Miss Norine Barnett, Hartford, Ky.; and Miss Mary Barnett, Louisville, Ky., nieces of the bridegroom.

A litter carrier may also save a great deal of work in cleaning out the cow stable.
